BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1951

VOL. 60 — NO. 46

Observations...

The Colmer-Stennis Day at Gulfport is a great tribute paid to two outstanding and deserving Mississippians by the citizens of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Bill Colmer has served this district in the Congress of the United States for the past 18 years and his accomplishments for his district are many, but above all the interest of his country has come first. Bill is the one congressman who headed a committee and had a personal interview with Stalin. From that time on he urged that country quit the soft method with Russia, and if his advice had been followed we, perhaps, would not now be facing the many foreign problems which are confronting us. The Sixth district of Mississippi has one of the country's outstanding congressmen, who maintains the respect of his colleagues, and who is probably one of the more influential members of this great legislative body. We have a great team in Bill Colmer and John Stennis, Mississippi's junior senator. John Stennis is one of the younger members of the upper legislative body, but he stands high in the estimation of the membership of the United States Senate. His opinion is probably far more respected than any other freshman senator. John Stennis is a statesman. His arguments are based on facts, figures and judicial determinations. His judgment is sound and is ever exerted for welfare of his country. So, we, too, join with the many friends of Bill Colmer and John Stennis, and wish for them many more years of public service.

The sand beach between McDonald's Lane and DeMontuzin avenue, is no longer wishful thinking. It is a reality. The firm of Merritt, Chapman and Scott, bridge contractors, completed the pumping Tuesday night. We in Bay St. Louis should be grateful to these folks, and to the many others who worked so diligently to bring this improvement about. As we have said before, the mere pumping of the sand is not the end. Some method must be used to see that the sand is kept in place. Retaining walls or groins must be placed. The Board of Supervisors have the authority to expend funds in the overplus of the Road Protection Bond Fund, which cannot be expended for any purpose other than seawall or road protection, to do this job. The necessary facilities for the Park and Playground Commission of the City of Bay St. Louis; and, we understand they are already in the making. It is going to take a bit more work to complete the job, and there should not be a lull.

Tuesday is election day in Mississippi. None of the nominees of the Democratic primary have opposition and the election is a mere formality. The list of those selected to serve as judges of the election by the Hancock County Election Commissioners is published in this issue of the Echo.

The St. Stanislaus Band Auxiliary will have a card party at Hotel Reed, Wednesday, November 7, at 8 p.m. The proceeds are to be used for the Stanislaus Band. The band needs your support. We often think that the forgotten boys in public affairs are members of the band. No public function is complete without the band, and these boys have to give hours of their time to practice and then their time in playing; yet, little recognition is ever given them. We need the bands at our schools and we should be proud of their many accomplishments in the past. They are deserving of our support.

Civic League To Give Bar-B-Q Stoves To Park

The Pass Christian Civic League of which Mrs. J. E. Fitzwillson is president, is planning to have three barbecue stoves erected in the Memorial Park in the near future. These barbecue stoves will enable families and organized groups to enjoy the park more fully by having barbecues, weiner roasts, marshmallow toasts, crab boils, etc. League members have given a series of card parties in order to raise funds. Through their efforts trash cans were placed in convenient locations and city streets are kept much cleaner. Mrs. Fitzwillson said, "We are indeed grateful to the management of the Miramar Hotel. They have been helpful and cooperative in providing a meeting place for the League and allowing us to have our card parties in the hotel."

The Crews of Chicapoula is offering a bang up parade this year and asks the wholehearted cooperation of the public.

RETURNS FROM MEMPHIS

Mrs. Theodore Tudury has returned from Memphis, Tenn., where she attended a three-state conference on Polio at the Peabody Hotel.

W. D. Coss, fund raising director from National headquarters, was principal speaker.

Mrs. Tudury also visited her son, Theo. Jr., who is athletic coach at West Memphis High, and saw one of the games.

"The first requisite for the promotion and building of your town is that each citizen must BELIEVE in his city," Edward A. Khayat vice-president of the Pascagoula-Moss Point Bank, told members of the Chamber of Commerce at the kick-off meeting of its 1951-52 season Thursday, October 25, at Hotel Reed.

The speaker, in continuing said, "You have all the advantages and potentialities of much larger communities, but do not let it be said that 'you can't see the woods for the trees.'"

Mr. Khayat, who is recognized as being well-versed in Chamber of Commerce and civic matters on the Gulf Coast, added "Each citizen should accept the fact that he owes a debt to his community which furnished him with schools, churches, roads and many other advantages; he should not forget that the natural beauty was there before he came."

The banker outlined a method for developing a successful Chamber of Commerce. He stated that "to have a successful Chamber of Commerce takes a lot of patience and perseverance. The Chamber must be accurate and impartial in all of its activities and must cultivate all of its 'front men'—those who frequently come in contact with the traveling public. 'Politics,' the speaker added, "Personal credit and factionalism should be abolished from the Chamber."

In conclusion, Mr. Khayat stated, "the future of the Mississippi Gulf Coast is unlimited. It has excellent forestry advantages, factories, a tremendous fishing industry, tourist trade and prospective oil and gas industry."

It was by mere coincidence that the construction of a new project and asset for the community life of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County, in the form of a 1,250 foot sand beach, began as the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce conducted its annual shrimp boil and membership drive Thursday.

As the meeting of the group was being held, the officials of the City of Bay St. Louis were directing the final laying and connecting of pipe for the pumping of the sand beach which had been sought for many years. Through the efforts of the City officials, the Park and playground Commission, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and other public-spirited citizens, an agreement was reached with Merritt-Chapman and Scott, firm presently constructing the four-lane bridge across the Bay of St. Louis, whereby the sand is being pumped on North Beach between McDonald Lane and DeMontuzin avenue through the cooperation of the property holders bordering on this strip of land. The beach will extend at least 200 feet from the seawall and will slope toward the Bay.

T. T. Robin, chairman of the membership committee, was master of ceremonies for the evening. He introduced A. H. Gregory, president for the ensuing year; A. C. Mitchell, vice-president; H. W. Lettister, retiring president; and members of the Board of Directors.

Frank Cooper, C of C member, introduced R. M. Hand, project manager, R. P. Neely, office manager of Merritt-Chapman and Scott; Charles S. Hill, resident engineer of Hazlet and Erdal Consulting engineers and their wives.

A report of J. Cyril Glover, City Commissioner of Finance, and member of the organization's Board of Directors, was made; he reported the following activities of the Commission Council during the past year: Construction of a new 8-inch water well; hard surfacing, 19 streets, throughout the city; reduction of ad valorem

Oliver Sylvester Suffers Hip Injury

Oliver Sylvester is a patient in the Veterans Facility, Biloxi, as a result of an injury sustained early Monday morning.

It was undetermined whether Mr. Sylvester, who was found by Maurice Summers and Mr. Poyadon on Dunbar avenue suffering from an injured hip, had been hit by an automobile or had fallen.

Fahey's ambulance was called, and the examining physician reported that the hip was either dislocated or broken and advised that the patient be sent to the Biloxi hospital.

The aged man, who was employed as a carpenter at Beach View apartments, Biloxi, was, according to State Highway Patrolman W. D. King and Archie Fairley, walking on the highway when hit by an automobile operated by Pfc. Daniel L. Hays, 19, of Keesler Air Force Base.

In 1947 he won the Southern Regional Fellowship offered by the Pepsi Cola "Paintings of the Year" show. P T A TO MEET

The Bay High P-T. A. is to meet Tuesday evening, November 13, in the Bay High auditorium at 7:30. American Education week will be commemorated with a March of Time film, "The Fight for Better Schools," which will be shown through the courtesy of the National Citizens Commissions for the Public Schools. The Senior Dramatic Club of Bay High will present a skit, "The Little Red School House," under the direction of Mrs. Georgette Jial.

Mrs. Gerald R. Corbett, wife of Judge Corbett of the Hawaiian Circuit Court will speak in Bay St. Louis, Sunday, Nov. 11, at 5 p.m. in the Episcopal Parish House.

Mrs. Corbett's talk, which will be based on the importance of the "tutelage of Hawaii," is sponsored by the Bay St. Louis League of Women Voters. Mrs. Corbett has been made available for this appearance through the efforts of George Lehleiner.

The League is not taking a definite stand Mrs. Paul Miller, president stated, as to Hawaiian Statehood; but it is making an effort to keep the public informed on matters of general interest.

Mrs. Corbett, a native of Providence, R. I., is a graduate of Smith College and went to Hawaii in 1921 as a teacher in the schools there. Thus, three decades ago began a career which has helped mould Hawaii into an intensely loyal, progressive, literate American community.

For the past 16 years Mrs. Corbett has been in the educational department of the Academy of Arts and executive secretary of the Community Theatre.

In 1949, as a member of the educational committee of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Corbett assisted that body in preparation of recommendations for a constitutional convention. In recognition of her talents, the people of Hawaii elected her delegate to that convention, which met in 1950 and drafted the constitution Hawaii will use if admitted to statehood.

Mrs. Corbett serves as the only woman member of the Hawaiian Statehood Commission, the territorial body charged with the responsibility of advancing Hawaii's cause for statehood. In this capacity she is making a nationwide speaking tour to acquaint women's groups with that part of America which she ardently believes will, in 1952, be the forty-ninth state.

Lions Club Doing Fine Public Work

The Pass Christian Lions' Club, of which Bernard Hayden is president, has outlined an ambitious program for the next months.

First on the agenda are eye examinations for 13 school children with the funds necessary to outfit needy children with glasses or treatments. The children will be taken to McWilliams Clinic in Gulfport just as soon as appointments can be arranged. Eight of these children are reported students of the public school system, and five from the Parochial school.

The Lion's Club is also providing the city of Pass Christian with a portable iron lung. This will be available for public use should the need arise.

The Lions plan to raise money for their Christmas baskets by a broom and mop sale. The date of the sale has not yet been announced, but it will be held on the vacant lot next to the City Hall. Brooms and mops of several sizes and kinds will be on sale. They will be purchased from the Light House for the Blind in New Orleans.

The City officials and George Horton, member of the Park and Playground Commission of the City of Bay St. Louis watch as the sand is pumped through the pipes to form a new 1250 foot sand beach for Bay St. Louis. This project, which was brought about through the help of Merritt, Chapman and Scott, bridge contractors, was completed Tuesday night. The actual work was started Thursday night. In the picture above, are, reading from left to right, Commissioner Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., Mayor Warren Carver, George Horton and Commissioner J. Cyril Glover. Photo by Nelius Favre.

SHRINERS PLAN ANNUAL CIRCUS

Charles Lewis, one of the great Buffoons of America, will be featured at Jerusalem Temple's sixth annual Shrine circus to be held at the Municipal Auditorium in New Orleans November 16 through November 25.

The sixth annual Shrine Circus will be one of the high points of New Orleans' entertainment season.

The circus will give 15 performances during the course of its ten day stand. Shows are scheduled for each evening at 8:15, with added matinees on each of the two Saturdays and Sundays of the run.

With what is probably the strongest line-up of top-flight circus attractions that the New Orleans Temple has ever assembled, the 1951 show is expected to top last year's record smashing attendance figure, when more than 110,000 persons saw fifteen performances. Estes McKinney, chairman of the Shrine's General Circus committee predicts.

Prices have been held to the same low level in effect last year, Mr. McKinney said. General admission will be 60 cents for children, and $1.20 for adults, with reserved seats costing $1.20 additional.

As usual, proceeds of the show will be devoted to the support of a number of charitable organizations regularly assisted by Jerusalem Temple. Principal among them is the Shrine's Hospital for crippled children at Shreveport, but many local groups will also benefit.

The 1951 Shrine circus will feature what is probably the greatest display of animal acts ever to show in New Orleans. Among the outstanding acts which will make up this circus will be the Simur Troupe, who will perform a daring feature on the top of flying trapezes never before dared by any other troupe of performers. In addition, there will be Terrell Jacobs, wild animal trainer, who will work with lions and tigers in the same cage, and the fabulous Hanneford Troupe, the world's outstanding bareback equestrians.

The other elements which make up an outstanding circus will also be abundantly presented. Thrilling aerial displays, revolving and flying trapeze artists, tumblers, teeterboard troupes, balancing acts, high-wire performers, jugglers and many other attractions.

And there will be a profusion of clowns—more than the Shrine circus has ever presented before. Heading the year's contingent will be "Sonny" Moore, highly regarded as a funnyman in the greatest clown tradition.

Legion Is Great Community Group Says Fred Fayard

Plans to make Clement R. Bontemps Post No. 139 of the American Legion here the greatest community service organization in the state were announced today by Post Commander Fred E. Fayard, Sr.

Commander Fayard's announcement marked the opening of Clement R. Bontemps Post's most intensive membership drive in its history.

"Our aim is the enrollment of every eligible local veteran of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict in our post during the coming year," said Commander Fayard.

Local Residents Attend Forum

Mississippi can provide equal school facilities and maintain segregation but it will cost a "lot more" money than citizens are now paying toward education.

A good adult probation law in Mississippi one of three states in the nation without such a law, will result in savings to taxpayers and improve citizenship.

The average state town or city can improve its government, and at the same time usually save money if business-like practices are adopted.

The three statements above were generally agreed upon at the public affairs forum held in Gulfport October 16th.

Sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council and various local civic groups the forum presented facts and figures on three topics of importance to every Mississippian. They were: education, adult probation, and municipal government and finance. Each topic was presented through a series of visual aids.

THE EDUCATION PROBLEM

The proposals of the Mississippi Citizens' Council on Education were explained in detail. Briefly, the proposals call for a 20-year school building program at a cost of 100 million dollars, and adoption of an overall "foundation program." Under the foundation program, a "minimum education program would be guaranteed for each child in the State. The foundation program would cost a total of $41,166,825.00 annually, with the state appropriating $34,212,904.00 of this amount. The state appropriation would be increased over 14 million dollars annually, as compared to the present appropriation. The economic index of counties would be used to determine local and state contributions.

Also, under the plan, a great number of schools would be consolidated, since school districts would be reduced from the present 3,579 districts to 177 districts. Under this plan, each county would be considered as one district, while the existing 95 separate school districts would not be disturbed.

ADULT PROBATION NEED
Mississippi, one of three states without adult probation, is now utilizing one of the best ways of treating young and first offenders, according to the Council's study. The study pointed out:

Of all criminals sentenced, 96 per cent are eventually returned to society.

It costs the state at least $365 per year to keep a person in prison. Adult probation costs only one-tenth this amount.

Adult probation does not free those convicted. Those on probation who violate the rules are promptly imprisoned without a retrial.

Besides making a better citizen of the person convicted, probation also keeps many dependents from being on public relief rolls. Last year, dependents of Parchman cost the state $160,734.

MUNICIPAL FINANCE

The council presented results of its study of 24 cities and towns in the state to show how municipalities can improve services and save money. Many of the proposals call for business-like operation, and taking advantage of more revenue sources. Even with all efficiency, some municipalities may need to levy a 1/4c sales tax, the study stated. The Council recommends that any incorporated place be allowed to levy such a tax if the citizens so vote.

Frank E. Everett, Jr., of Vicksburg presided over the meeting. He was introduced by Don Shepherd of Gulfport.

Following the formal presentation of the topics, the meeting was turned into an open forum. Those who made the presentations formed a panel to provide the answers.

Representatives from the following centers were in attendance: Wiggins, Long Beach, Biloxi, Pass Christian, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis.

—Misses Alice and Elsie Spori left Monday for New Orleans after having spent the past Sunday here at their summer home.

—S. J. Ingram and E. E. Breland attended the State Administrators conference held in Jackson October 24 and 25.

LADNER - LEE NUPTIALS HELD

Miss Barbara Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee of Gainesville, and Leo Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ladner of Ansley, were married in the Rectory of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church Sunday, October 21, at 2:00 p. m. by Msgr. A. J. Gmelch.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an aqua suit with which she wore a black hat and black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink carnations.

The bride had as her maid of honor and only attendant her sister, Miss Dale Lee, who wore a black fall model with a matching hat and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mr. Ladner had as his best man his brother, George Ladner.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents where Mrs. Ladner and Mrs. Lee were receiving with the bridal party. The house was decorated with Rose of Montana and roses. The large three-tiered wedding cake centered a lace covered table.

The bride is a graduate of Bay High school in the class of '51. Mr. Ladner served in World War II and is completing his education at a GI school at Kiln.

—Mrs. Ogden Kergosien, Mrs. Gordon Romanoff and Mrs. Eugene Davis spent last Wednesday in New Orleans where they went to see Mrs. Richard Koch, Sr. who left that day for the Canal Zone to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jeffries.

Fourbit Dollar

Everybody gripes about the high cost of living, as food, raiment, shelter and wages run a merry race to see which can win.

But the biggest item in the cost of living has become taxes and the high cost of government now exceeds all items in the family budget.

Generally speaking, the purchasing value of a dollar is about one-half what it was ten years ago. Compared to 1940, a dollar today is worth about 50 cents in the purchase of coal and clothes, 44 cents in building materials, 77 cents in rent money and will buy 65 cents worth of ice. So the cost of living has doubled, and the dollar is worth about four-bits.

But while the cost of living has doubled, the cost of government has more than quadrupled. Since 1940 the cost of running the U.S. State Department has gone up 1634 percent, the cost of the Department of Labor 1283 percent and the Department of Commerce 1049 percent. An average American family that now earns between $3,000 and $4,000 spends $908 a year in visible and invisible taxes.

In the year 1940 the nation's food bill amounted to $17.1 billion and its tax bill $12.7. In 1950 American consumers spent $52.5 billion for food and $57 billion for taxes. Taxes now cost more than food. Personal direct taxes cost $20 per capita 10 years ago, now $132. Hidden and unhidden taxes eat away at every man's wages and profits and take the bread out of the mouths of his brood.

It's the high cost of government more than the high cost of living that takes the incentive out of labor and the joy out of life. Everybody is now born in debt, begins paying tribute with his first earned dollar and when he passes away, what he leaves behind is subject to a death tax. So taxes add to the cost of living and dying.

The prosperity of America was builded out of hard work and thrift and the security of its citizens rests on public and private economy. We cannot waste our substance and prosper, we cannot squander our patrimony and survive. Extravagance, either by a people or by the government leads to poverty. Only the provident prosper.

Increased Telephone Rates Made Necessary By Increased Telephone Costs

Shoes that used to sell for $10.00 now sell for $20.00 and hats that cost $10.00 a few years ago now cost $20.00. It's the same story when your Telephone Company goes into the market to buy labor and materials with which to provide good telephone service. Increasing costs of labor and materials apply with equal force to your Telephone Company.

It has become necessary therefore to increase telephone rates in order to help us to meet the increased cost of providing telephone service.

Increased rates on long distance service between points within the state were effective at midnight October 25, 1951, and increased rates on local telephone service became effective with bills rendered on and after October 26, 1951.

We will continue to do everything possible to provide the best possible service at the lowest possible cost to our subscribers and to expand and improve our service in cities and rural communities throughout the state as rapidly as circumstances permit.

CONTROL FIRES. Remember that trees are a crop just as much as row crops. Do not let fire destroy your woodland profits. Leaves have begun to fall and grass to die, making ideal forest fire conditions; so take steps now to prevent them in your woods.

Practice fire prevention by being careful with all kinds of fire in and around the woods. Do not throw lighted matches and cigarettes from cars.

POULTRY. Winterize your laying house; patch the roof if it leaks. Provide deep litter and adequate nests and roosts, feeders and waterers.

Short days mean less work from laying hens unless lights are provided. Hens must eat to produce; they will not eat in the dark so give them some light. Make the days at least 13 hours long for laying hens. This will give them a chance to eat enough to produce more eggs.

PASTURE. MORE OCTOBER JOBS. Finish planting clovers this month if there is sufficient moisture. Inoculate all clovers and legumes to be planted. Plant oats for winter and spring grazing, fertilize pasture areas with a balanced fertilizer. Select areas to be cleared late this fall and winter. Sow winter peas or red clover on Johnson grass areas.

P.T.A. Observes Enlistment Month

October was PTA enlistment month. Membership is the track that must be laid before the train can run. The laying of the track is only the beginning of Parent-Teacher Work, but it must come first; and although October has passed, it is not too late to join. One of the chief objectives of this organization is the interpretation of school needs to the general public. Improvement in the present status of Mississippi schools can come only through proper legislation. Patrons of Bay High should come together for discussions of these problems. Any citizen interested in the welfare of the children in the community is eligible for PTA membership, but the major emphasis is on the parents and guardians of the school children. The PTA is the only organization in the community that strives to bring the parent into direct contact with the school. This contact is important.

Mrs. Walter Rausch, membership chairman, stated that she will not be satisfied until contact has been established with every home where there is a child attending Bay High.

A nominal fee of only 50c is all it costs to belong. Why not become a member of your local PTA today?

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

County Agents Attend Conference

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

The Home Demonstration agent and all the other white Extension workers in Hancock County attended the annual Extension Agents' Conference at State College last week. The first assembly was on Monday night and the concluding session was on Saturday morning.

Most of the time of the meeting was spent in subject matter instruction, periods. Your agents have come back to the county with some up-to-date information on foods and nutrition, clothing, health, consumer education, dairying and many other subjects. They have a better idea of the service and information available to them and to you from our Land Grant College and State Agricultural Extension Service.

The annual meeting of the Mississippi Home Demonstration Agents' Association was held Tuesday with Miss Katherine Drane, home demonstration Agent, Marks, presiding.

U. N. DAY. Wednesday, October 24, was United Nations Day. Six years ago on October 24 the United Nations Charter went into effect.

The 60 countries in the United Nations are pledged to act for peace, security, freedom, understanding, prosperity, health and education. They are against war, aggression, enslavement, intolerance, poverty, disease and ignorance.

On display at many schools and other places in the county and throughout the state were the United Nations flag made last year by home demonstration club women and 4-H girls. These groups observed the day with fitting programs this year.

DUSTING WAXED FURNITURE. Waxed furniture is easily dusted because the surface is hard and dry. Dust does not stick to it. And the slight amount of rubbing used in dusting enhances the beauty of the wood and finish, giving the surface a soft, satiny sheen.

Waxed furniture should be dusted often, using soft, unlinted cloths. Never use oiled or treated cloths on waxed furniture. Oils and chemicals soften wax and make it sticky. It then catches and holds dust and becomes dirty.

Cloths that have been used for polishing wax make good dusters for waxed furniture. These may be stored in jars. They need to be laundered when soiled. Worn wool socks are excellent for polishing. Always have two and use both hands when dusting or polishing.

A chamois wrung out of clear water and used for dusting kept just for that. Mit dusters may be bought or made for dusting waxed furniture.

HOW MUCH MATERIAL DO I NEED?

As you look at the prices of materials these days, you realize more than ever the importance of figuring accurately how much cloth you need to make a garment. You don't want any left over and you don't want to have to buy more, so notice how much the pattern you plan to use calls for. Remember that altering the pattern or using cloth with a definite design may change the amount needed.

Always straighten the cloth before you use it and shrink washable materials unless it is guaranteed pre-shrunk.

30% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept. Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse. But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer? They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods sought to repudiate a settlement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $3.30 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19 1/2 cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal ones seem to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—rules which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk to you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

The State Health Officer Says

Since the fall of 1948, 85 physicians have become members of the Fifty Year Club of the Mississippi Medical Association. The membership certificate honors the physician for having served his neighbors and other people in his community faithfully and well and having brought honor to himself and his profession as a practitioner of medicine for fifty years or more.

The Fifty Year Club of the State Medical Association was organized in Jackson during the May, 1944, meeting of the State Medical Association. Dr. William Augustus Evans, a native of Mississippi but a well-known citizen of the world, suggested the idea of a Half Century Club. In the Mid-South, his name was a household word associated with the "How to Keep Well" column of the Commercial Appeal.

Concerning the organization, the following statement was made during World War II. "There are no greater heroes to be found in this second world war conflict than the eligibles of the Half Century Club, or those doctors who have been active in the practice for forty to sixty years, who had planned to retire, or who had retired, but realizing the need for their services, have returned with renewed energy and devotion to practice."

Dr. W. H. Frizell of Brookhaven serves as President; Dr. Felix J. Underwood of Jackson, secretary and Dr. W. H. Anderson of Booneville, sponsor.

The following hold membership in the club: Stephen Archer Eggleston, Giles Sanford Bryan, James Walton Lipscomb (Sr.), Walter Wesley Crawford, William Lee Little, James Otty Riley, William Henry Frizell, Thomas Purser, Mose McCarley McMillan, Thomas Fox, James Walter Lucas, Lewis Henry Hightower, Benjamin Joseph Marshall, Benjamin Littleberry Byrd, George Hardin Wood, William Douglas Smith, John Robert Kittrell, Joseph Dunbar Shields, Edward Jones Mathis, George Irby Redditt, James Henry Milton Pearce, John Thomas Longino, Carter Cimmie Parnell, Joshua Rice Williams, William Alexander John, Joseph W. Vets Disabled Since June 27, 1950, Are Eligible For Vocational Training

According to a statement today released by Bob DeKay, Commissioner, Veterans Affairs for Mississippi, American veterans, disabled in military service anywhere in the world after fighting started in Korea, are now eligible under a new law for vocational training on the same basis as World War II veterans.

Previously, the rehabilitation training had been limited to Korean veterans who needed it and whose service-connected disabilities had resulted from armed conflict, or extra-hazardous service outside of combat.

This limitation, in effect, barred hundreds of veterans—disabled while serving in the United States or in non-combat zones elsewhere from the Federally sponsored training program. Those entitled, in the past, were mainly veterans injured or disabled in Korea itself.

The new Act, known as Public Law 170, 82nd Congress, lifts the bar by eliminating the "armed conflict" and "extra-hazardous" requirements.

Under the law, training may be extended to those veterans, disabled in any part of the world after June 27, 1950, who meet essentially the same requirements as their fellow-veterans of World War II; a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions; a compensable service-connected disability, and a need for training to overcome the handicap of the disability.

The enactment of this new law does not mean, according to DeKay, that all veterans who have served since June 27, 1950 are now eligible for education and training at the expense of the Veterans Administration. This new law is applicable only to those men who have incurred diseases or disabilities as a result of such service. Even in these cases the determination as to the need of this training is made by the Veterans Administration.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

W. F. BOND, Commissioner State Department Public Welfare

Services for the blind in Mississippi began with a bill introduced by Senator Adams of Montgomery county and passed at the 1928 session of the Mississippi legislature. Through the years this service has been developed to such an extent that today no state has a more comprehensive, far-reaching, and effective program for the blind than has the State of Mississippi as a part of the State Welfare Program.

Blind persons capable of being trained are given instruction in 31 different vocations so that they may become self-supporting, industrious citizens. Twenty-six are operating vending stands throughout the state, more than a hundred are employed at the training factory for the blind doing a million dollar business a year here in Jackson, and over 300 blind persons are furnished talking book machines giving them records of material all the way from the best magazines and novels to the Bible. Four preachers, two white and two black, depend on this service for information for their sermons every Sunday. Eye examinations operations, etc. are provided for in most cases. The average blind monthly assistance grant to the 2800 un-

Senior Class Picks New Ring

Breaking away from tradition, this year's graduating class has voted by almost unanimous decision to change the class ring which has been standard at St. Stanislaus for twenty-three years.

employable needy blind in Mississippi is $23.44, in Alabama $23.02, Arkansas $25.86, Virginia $30.74, North Carolina $34.43, South Carolina $27.60, and Tennessee $38.03.

The difficult problem arose about the choice of style of the new ring to be adopted. After some discussion and debate it was finally agreed to model the '52 rings after those of St. Aloysius of Vicksburg. The new models are made of rose gold with an engraving of the school on one side and the emblem of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart on the other. Above them is the graduating year. Under the engraving of the school are the names of the city and state where the school is located. On top is a ruby with an Old English "S" encrusted in gold. Around the base of the ring is the name "St. Stanislaus College."

The Senior class hopes the ring will meet with everyone's approval and will be accepted by the future classes also.
